Cogeco Canada is throttling bittorrent traffic 24x7. That does not seem to comply with the regulation that ITMPs be utilized only as a last resort and only as a direct result of specific congestion.

If Cogeco's network really is congested 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, then their network is under-provisioned and they are applying ITMPs as the wrong solution to that problem and discriminating 24x7 against specific traffic.

Surely the CRTC did not allow the use of ITMPs as a measure to allow ISPs to avoid the expansion of networks and just continually take on new customers and slow down the rest of the existing customers to make room for the new customers (and the new revenue associated).
